

Robert Hunt is a senior economist in the Research Department of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia. Bob's research has focused on consumer payments, consumer finance, and the economics of innovation.

Bob's work includes studies of the dynamics of the consumer credit reporting industry, credit counseling organizations, debt collectors, and antitrust issues in consumer payment networks.

He has also studied the effects of changes in intellectual property reform, the emergence and effects of patents on computer programs and business methods, and the distribution of innovation across firms, locations, and time.

Dr. Hunt received a B.A. from Butler University in 1986 and a Ph.D. in Economics from the University of Pennsylvania in 1996. Prior to joining the Bank in 1998, Dr. Hunt worked for the U.S. Congressional Budget Office
