Welcome to the 2011 Student Funded Fellowships Auction!

In 1991, the Law Quadrangle Notes highlighted the accomplishments of SFF since its founding in 1978. According to LQN, SFF had funded almost 300 students over its 13 years, and its primary fundraiser, Donate a Day's Pay, had recently set national records by raising $42,000.

20 years later, SFF is still one of the most successful programs of its kind. Our DADP program still asks Michigan Law students to donate one day's worth of summer firm pay, and it continues to be a great success. But a lot has changed in the past 20 years. SFF has new fundraisers through partnerships with the Michigan Law Culinary Club and the Headnotes. This year SFF launched an Amazon Associates campaign to raise money through the referral link <http://tinyurl.com/sffamazon>.

We also participate in the Law Student Travel and Accommodations Reimbursement program. Through LSTAR, SFF receives $215 every time a Michigan Law student opts to stay with a friend or family member rather than in a hotel and $35 every time a student forgoes at least one cab ride to or from the airport when on a callback with a participating law firm.

We are grateful to all those students who participated in DADP and LSTAR this year – your efforts are critical to our ability to provide financial support to your public-interest minded classmates. Additionally, we want to thank the rest of the Michigan Law community that supported us in other ways. SFF is committed to supporting Michigan Law students pursuing public interest work, and we rely on your continued generosity and enthusiasm.

SFF's greatest success of the past 20 years is our Auction. It is now our best-known and most successful fundraiser. Each spring the Auction brings together students, faculty, and alumni with exciting items for every taste and interest, from ka-raoke parties to golf outings, vacation spots to custom jewelry. Last year's Auction alone raised over $65,000, more money than the record-setting amount hailed by LQN in 1991. Due to the success of the Auction, DADP, and LSTAR, as well as generous support from the Michigan Law community, we were able to fund over 70 students last summer. With your continued help and support, we hope to make the next 20 years as successful as the last 20.

Tonight we are showcasing some great new items and a few old favorites. We're anticipating a terrific evening, and tonight we're gonna party like it's 1999! (Yes, we know this would be more appropriate if we said "like it's 1991," but that's how the song goes.) Please remember to bid high and bid often. So grab your slap bracelets and support your public interest peers as they go out to change the world, and join us . . . in Kickin' It For Public Service!

Sincerely,

Student Funded Fellowships Board, 2010-2011

March 31, 2011

Perhaps the most inspirational aspect of the legal profession is its unwavering public ethic, shaped by and experienced through the felt obligation to serve the interests of the public at large in addition to the interests of individual paying clients. The University of Michigan Law School has a longstanding history of encouraging its students to develop and maintain a sense of public-spiritedness, and to incorporate a healthy respect for public values into their professional practices and daily lives well after they leave our magnificent halls.

It is critical that this ethic of public service be nurtured from the very beginning of a new lawyer's exposure to the profession. And while the Clarence Darrows of our alumni family serve as wonderful role models, each new generation of students must find its own inspiration and connection to our profession's public ideals. While the School can provide the kindling, in the end the fire must be lit from within.

That is why our Student Funded Fellowships program is such a valued and integral part of the Michigan community. The program is one of the oldest continuing vehicles through which Michigan students provide leadership to encourage each other in this enterprise.

For over three decades, SFF has provided a forum in which students choosing high-paying summer jobs give a day's pay (or more) to ensure that their classmates can spend the summer doing public interest work. Today, SFF has a broad-ranging set of creative fundraising programs to support this laudable goal.

The centerpiece of each year's efforts is, of course, the SFF Auction. The Auction raises vast sums of money for a great cause. And it is loads of fun (there aren't many other opportunities to pay to have your professors take you skydiving or cook you breakfast). I hope you will join me in supporting this year's SFF Auction, as well as extending your support to other SFF activities throughout the year.

Sincerely,

Notes & Disclaimers

Item information contained in this Program is accurate to the best of SFF's knowledge, as of Program publication (March 18, 2011). The Addendum is considered part of this Program and should be consulted for any changes. The market value listed for any consumer item is the manufacturer's suggested retail price. It is the bidder's responsibility to take all steps he/she deems appropriate to determine condition and fitness of, and acquire any additional details of interest regarding, an item prior to bidding on it. Please note in particular that certain items with no listed expiration date may have an expiration date that was not provided to SFF in time for publication; interested bidders are encouraged to contact the vendor or donor prior to bidding if expiration is a concern.

Bidder also acknowledges that certain items (including, but not limited to, event tickets, destinations, professional services, entertainment, meals, and experiences) are subject to performance by third parties, and that SFF shall bear no responsibility, financial or otherwise, should any such performance not meet the winning bidder's expectations. Bidder bears sole responsibility for arranging performance of items upon receipt of third party contact information. Requests for refunds not based on material ambiguities in item descriptions will not be considered by SFF. Under no circumstances will SFF consider any requests for refunds after April 9, 2011, or seven days after receipt of item, whichever is later.

Dean's Challenge Matching Donations:

Dean Evan Caminker and Professor Robert Hirshon challenge you to bid high on this year's most exciting Live Auction items! Items marked with the Dean's Challenge symbol are eligible for Dean's Challenge Matching Donations. If a Dean's Challenge item garners a winning bid at or exceeding the dollar amount listed with the item, a matching donation will be made to SFF in the amount of the winning bid. Dean Caminker will match winning bids on all Dean's Challenge items until $10,000 has been pledged through this program.

On behalf of the entire Michigan Law School community, SFF warmly thanks Professor Robert Hirshon for the generous donation that makes this initiative possible, and for his commitment to students who pursue careers serving the public interest.

Live Auction

19 & 20 Zearfoss v. Caminker 24 Rick's 25 (E.D. Mich. 2010-2011)

Dean's Challenge! Matched at $2000 each

Life is full of choices: Necto, the self-described "hottest nightclub in Ann Arbor," or Rick's, the home of the sharkbowl? Dean Sarah Zearfoss buying you a drink, or Dean Evan Caminker buying you a drink? There's no bad choice here, because these deans will buy you drinks at these bars. Yes, the Battle of the Deans is back, and yes, the Deans will buy you drinks once again.

These two items will be auctioned off simultaneously in a head-to-head competition to see which Dean you'd rather hit the dance floor with. Dean Zearfoss (item #19) will pay for cover and a round of drinks for 10 at Necto Nightclub on a Friday night (yes, a Friday night), and Dean Caminker (item #20) will pay for cover and a round of drinks for 10 at Rick's on a Saturday night (yes, he's going back).

Some things to consider:

Dean Caminker had so much fun at Rick's, he's ready to go back.
Dean Zearfoss has never been to Necto (and has no idea what Fridays are like).
Rick's on Saturday night has sharkbowls ...
Necto on Friday night has a theme ...

In case it wasn't clear, this is Deans, with you, at a nightclub, buying you drinks.

Who will win the Battle of the Deans? Whoever wins, we think it's obvious that we all win.

Your shoes must grace the dance floor by February 2012. Due to scheduling difficulties, redemption may not be possible before the conclusion of Winter Term 2011.

End of Live Auction

Silent Auction

General Rules

Write clearly on the bid sheet so that you can be identified. Any bid for which the bidder's name, contact information, or bid amount is not clearly legible may be disregarded. The bidding will be closed by an SFF Board Member immediately following the end of the Live Auction. This process will be conducted as quickly as possible so please stay out of the way unless you are engaged in a bidding war. If a bidding war is underway when the closer arrives to pull the bid sheet, the closer will initiate Bidding War Procedures (see below). All decisions made by the closers are final.

Winning bidders should provide the closer with payment information at the time of closing.

Donors may be notified as to who won their items and how much the winner paid for the items. If you do not want your name or winning bid to be revealed, you must notify an SFF Board Member at the time of payment.

Bidding War Procedures

The closer will pull the bid sheet for the item.

The closer will then ask the participants of the bidding war to write their final bid on a Bidding War Slip.

The person with the highest final bid is the winner. The winning bid is the amount on the Bidding War Slip. The bidding is then closed. There is no opportunity to outbid at that point.

The closer will write the winning bid on the bid sheet for that item and return to regular closing procedures.
